DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-17 are pending and subject to restriction requirement.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-8, drawn to a method for obtaining hepatocyte-like cells by sequential culturing of stem cells in various media, classified in class 435, subclass 377, for example.
- II. Claim(s) 9, drawn to a method for obtaining hepatocyte-like cells from embryoid bodies, classified in class 435, subclass 375, for example.
- III. Claims 10-13, drawn to a cellular composition with hepatocyte-like cells, classified in class 435, subclass 370, for example.
- IV. Claims 14 and 15, drawn to a method for treating a subject by administering hepatocyte-like cells, classified in class 424, subclass 93.7, for example.
- V. Claim(s) 16, drawn to an isolated nucleic acid encoding polypeptide comprising the amino acid sequence of SED ID NO: 18, classified in class 536, subclass 23.5, for example.
- VI. Claim(s) 17, drawn to an polypeptide comprising the amino acid sequence of SED ID NO: 18, classified in class 514, subclass 21, for example.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I, II and IV are distinct methods because they are directed to different methods as claimed wherein the different methods comprises different active steps and/or they lead to different effects as claimed. The claimed method of invention IV relates to in vivo administration of hepatocyte-like cells. The claimed methods of inventions I and II encompass different manipulations of different populations of cells such as stem cells and embryoid bodies.

Inventions III, V and VI are distinct compositions as claimed because they are directed to different final products such as cells, nucleic acid and polypeptide.

The products of Groups V and VI are unrelated to other groups of claims since they are not required for making and/or using the hepatocyte-like cells as claimed.

Inventions I and II and Invention III are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make another and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the hepatocyte-like cells can be separated from liver.

Inventions III and IV are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case the hepatocyte-like cells can be used for in vitro drug testing.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 1651

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
